The lockdown has just closed our gallery space. But that doesn't stop us from launching our new art project on the phenomenology of the pandemic:

BERLIN_LOKAL_ZEIT

From 21st of November 2020, we will offer a varied programme of city walks, perception experiments, window displays, radio shows, online streaming and much more, which you can experience alone or with your family.

Our project focuses on observations and reflections of everyday life in the city during the pandemic. Which phenomena are emerging, how are they changing and how do our attitudes towards them change over time?

We invite you to follow our traces, join us and contribute in the coming weeks. You can find our current activities on the following channels:
